Dear Mike,

We are extremely please to announce that we are offering the 2009 International Energy Conservation Codes (IECC) training class at our annual meeting on October 15 -16, 2010. in Montgomery, Texas. This is one of the most timely educational events that TPREIA has ever had for Inspectors. New laws just passed requiring the 2009 International Energy Conservation Codes to be utilized for both residential and commercial buildings.

This 2009 International Energy Conservation Codes (IECC) two day classes will teach you the code requirements, prepare you to take the required exam and assist you in becoming ICC Code Certified in the IECC. All Code Certifications require passing an exam to demonstate your understanding of a particular code. We have arranged for ICC to prorot the test so you can sit for the IECC exam immediately following the completion of our two day class on Saturday afternoon. You should be trained, prepared, equipped and ready to sit and pass your IECC exam.

This class size is limited to 125 attendees. You won't find a better opportunity or costs for taking this class and then being able to sitting for the exam immediately following the class, while things are fresh on your mind.

Early registration is required so we can order the training materials at group rates to save you even more money.

Please do not wait if you intend to take this class. It is on a first come, first serve basis. TPREIA Members will be given first choice to register, then we will open for all TREC Inspectors, Municipal
